Art Unit: 1723

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- Claims 1-5, drawn to a water purifier main body, classified in class 285, subclass 33.
- II. Claim 6, drawn to a water purifier portion, classified in class 210, subclass435.
- III. Claims 7-9, drawn to a water purification portion, classified in class 210, subclass 435.
- IV. Claim 10, drawn to a water purifier, classified in class 210, subclass 435.
- V. Claim 11, drawn to a water purifier, classified in class 210, subclass 435.
- VI. Claims 12-19, drawn to a water purification filtration portion, classified in class 210, subclass 87.
 - VII. Claim 20, drawn to a water purifier, classified in class 210, subclass 87.

Inventions I and II together with III and VI are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct from each other if they are shown to be separately usable. In the instant case, inventions II, III, and VI have separate utility such as for use without a main body. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

Inventions IV and I together with II, III, and VI are related as combination and subcombinations. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the protrusions of group I, the purified water outlet of group II, the protrusion of group III, and the display portion of group VI. The subcombinations have separate utility as follows: invention I could be used without a water purifier portion; inventions I, II, III, and VI could be used without a main body portion.

Inventions V and I together with III, and VI are related as combination and subcombinations. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the protrusions of invention I, the protrusion of invention III, and the display portion of invention VI. The subcombinations have separate utility as follows: invention I could be used without a water purifier portion; inventions III, and VI could be used without a main body portion.

Inventions VII and I together with II, III, and VI are related as combination and subcombinations. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the main body of invention I, the stopping member inventions II and III, and the resilient thin plate of invention VI. The subcombinations have separate utility as follows: invention I could be used without a water purifier portion; inventions II, III, and VI could be used without a main body portion.

Inventions VI and I together with II, III are related as combination and subcombinations. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the main body of invention I, and the stopping member inventions II and III. The subcombinations have separate utility as follows: invention I could be used without a water purifier portion; inventions II, III could be used without a display portion.

Inventions IV together with V and VII are related as combination and subcombinations. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combinations as claimed does not require the particulars of the display portion of invention VII. The subcombinations have separate utility, for example, for use without a main body as required by inventions IV and V.

Inventions V and VI are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the main body side coupling portion. The subcombination has separate utility such as for use without without a purified water outlet.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Inventions I-V would be examined together in the case that any one of inventions I-V are elected.

Likewise groups VI and VII would be examined together in the case that any one of groups VI and VII are elected.

A copy of the above restriction requirement was faxed Mr. Donald Hanson on 10-6-03 and a telephone call was made to Mr. Donald Hanson on 10-15-03 to request an oral election to the above restriction requirement, but did not result in an election being made.

Art Unit: 1723
